

Michael K. Middleton is the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs in the College of Humanities. In addition, Michael holds a faculty appointment in the Department of Communication as an Associate Professor of Argumentation & Public Discourse. Michael's research focuses on rhetoric, argumentation, public discourse, and cultural studies in the contexts of political advocacy and social movements. In addition, Michael has over 25 years of experience competing in and coaching competitive debate and public speaking where he has coached numerous students to the highest ranks of national and international competition. During that time, he has worked with Northern Arizona University, California State University- Long Beach, the University of Utah, and students from dozens of high schools throughout the country. Michael is currently a member of the National Communication Association's Committee on International Discussion and Debate and is Secretary of the International Forensics Association. Previously, has also worked as a consultant for the International Debate Education Association, as well as as Past President of the Western Forensics & Argumentation Association and the National Parliamentary Debate Association.